Death of James W. Davis.

We are called upon this week to perform the sad duty of announcing the decease of James W. Davis, Counsellor at Law, of this village.

Mr. Davis was a native of Butternuts, Otsego Co., He came to this village in 1832 and engaged in the study of law in the office of the late John Sudam. After completing his legal studies, he removed to Otsego County. Declining health soon induced him to seek a milder climate. After spending a number of years at different places in the Southern States, with a view to the restoration of his health, he returned to Kingston in 1852, and settled here permanently. For the last year he sank gradually, a victim of consumption, which terminated in death on Saturday last. He was forty-five years of age. His remains were taken to his native place, for burial.

Mr. Davis was a man of decided ability. He relinquished the practice of law years ago on account of his health, but he is represented by those who knew him when in practice as an acute lawyer. His integrity was unquestioned, and he was universally respected. His gentlemanly demeanor on all occasions, and high sense of humor, had secured him hosts of friends throughout the country who will receive the intelligence of his death with extreme sorrow.
